Homecoming

October 19th, 2002

Coming into their Homecoming game against Cortland State, the Rowan University football team was undefeated yet unspectacular, winning with a solid defense but just enough offense. All that changed during the second quarter, when four touchdown drives, none longer than 2:30, paved the way for an easy 42-21 Profs victory and outright control of their own N.J. Athletic Conference and NCAA playoff destiny.

-Excerpt from an article by Joseph Checkler that appeared in The Whit

This year's annual Homecoming Parade theme was "Rowan University: Past, Present, Future." Every year members of Rowan's organizations spend weeks preparing their colorful floats to compete in the parade.

Class of 2003 President

To My Fellow Classmates of 2003:

Congratulations on your graduation from the best University in Glassboro, New Jersey. Unfortunately, we now have to go forward and seek high paying jobs, expensive cars, and of course a big house. However, you cannot depart Rowan University without thinking back on all of the fun times you had while you were here at this wonderful place of higher education. For instance, those long lines for drop and add in Savitz, scrumptious meals in the Student Center, and even the beautiful sounds of construction and trains that often enlighten our eardrums through the course of the day. As you may probably agree, things were great here at Rowan University, except for the parking problem that never went away.

On a lighter note, many relationships were built with the offices of Financial Aid, Bursar, Registrar, and even the Dean of Students. These offices devastated some and helped others in ways unimaginable. Above all, they were great and if not for them we might still be Rowan students for another year. So if you get the chance, give them a huge thanks for their hard work, especially the Bursar for their work during refund disbursement time. Let us not forget our wonderful Recreation Center and their happy staff for always being helpful, cheery, and great smoothie makers.

I almost forgot about one special place that commuters, on-campus residents, and your friends and family will miss about Glassboro's finest University... the often remodeled Student Center Pit. That's right, if you are a true Rowanite, you know the Pit. This is the place where Senior Week kickoff, the Homecoming Pageant, and the Lip Sync Competition, as well as many other events, all take place. While some of you slept in the Pit, others used this area to study, to relax, and even to converse with peers.

As you can see, we have much to be thankful for and indeed many memories to take forth with us as we accomplish our goals, seek out visions, and continue our quests for knowledge and success. From orientation with those great P.R.O.S. to graduation practice with class advisors and the Dean of Students office, this institution will leave a lasting memory in you one way or another. Always remember you are a proud graduate of Rowan University, home of the Profs., the birds, the owls, the ducks, the squirrels, and of course the rabbits. Again, congratulations and may you prosper in any and every way. May God Bless.

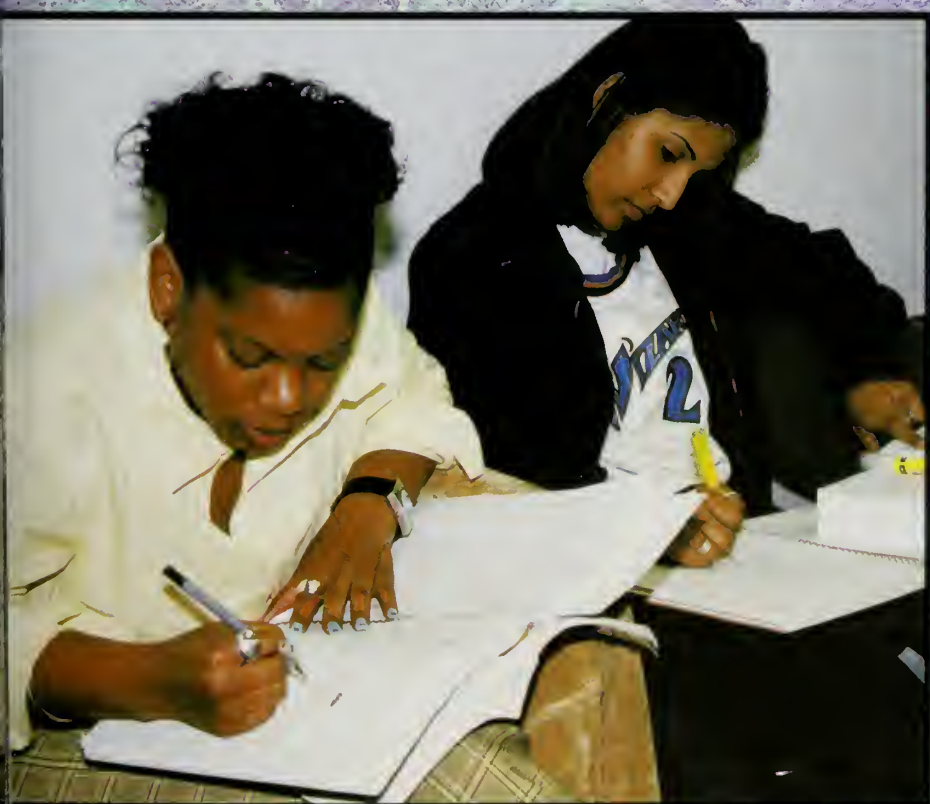

Best Wishes,
Your Senior Class President,
Donavan D. McCargo

Rowan University President's Address

President's Office

11 February, 2003

Dear Member of the Class of 2003:

For most graduates, commencement is a bittersweet time. On the one hand, you are delighted to be finally graduating, and moving forward with your career. On the other hand, you are leaving behind many of your friends and all of the security that comes from living in the familiar surroundings of our campus. What seemed to you as endless time when you arrived as a freshman now may appear to have passed with remarkable swiftness, as you prepare to leave the campus, diploma in hand.

I want to reassure you that there is life after commencement. For example, you will not cease to be a member of the Rowan family merely because you have graduated. We strongly encourage return visits from our alumni no matter how recently they may have graduated, and I hope you will want to return often to see how the campus is changing (and how, in important ways, it is staying exactly the same). Our alumni organization will make it a simple matter to stay in touch with your friends, and the Rowan Magazine will keep you up-to-date three times a year.

We are proud of all our graduates, and are convinced from past experience that you are well prepared to face the challenges and opportunities you will quickly confront. We are also confident that you will find the Rowan degree to gain value each year in the marketplace, largely because of the success of you, our graduates, in that marketplace. I know of firms that preferentially hire Rowan graduates, based on how well previous graduates have performed.

With all that said, commencement is a bittersweet time for the faculty and staff as well. Even though we know full well that as one class graduates another class arrives, and even though our job is to help you graduate, it is always difficult to say goodbye to students of whom we have grown fond. Such is the order of things. Therefore, in the words of a philosopher of the future, live long, graduates, and prosper.

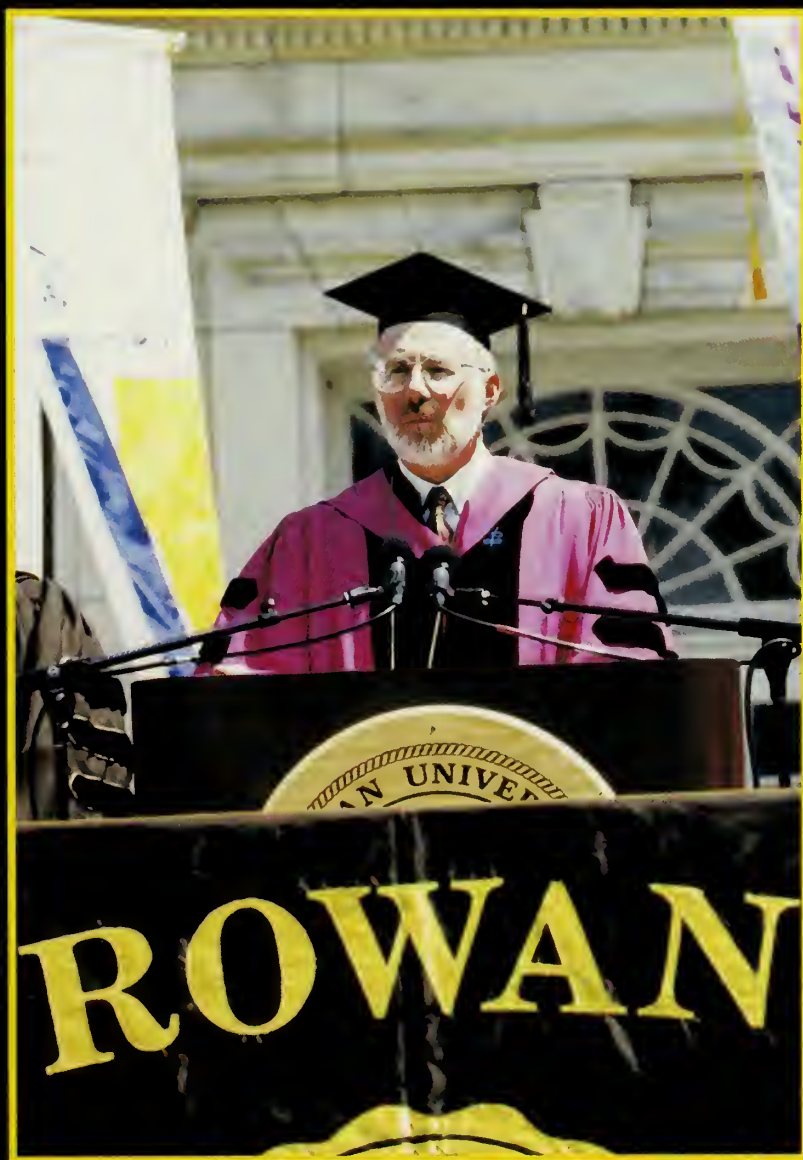

Sincerely yours,

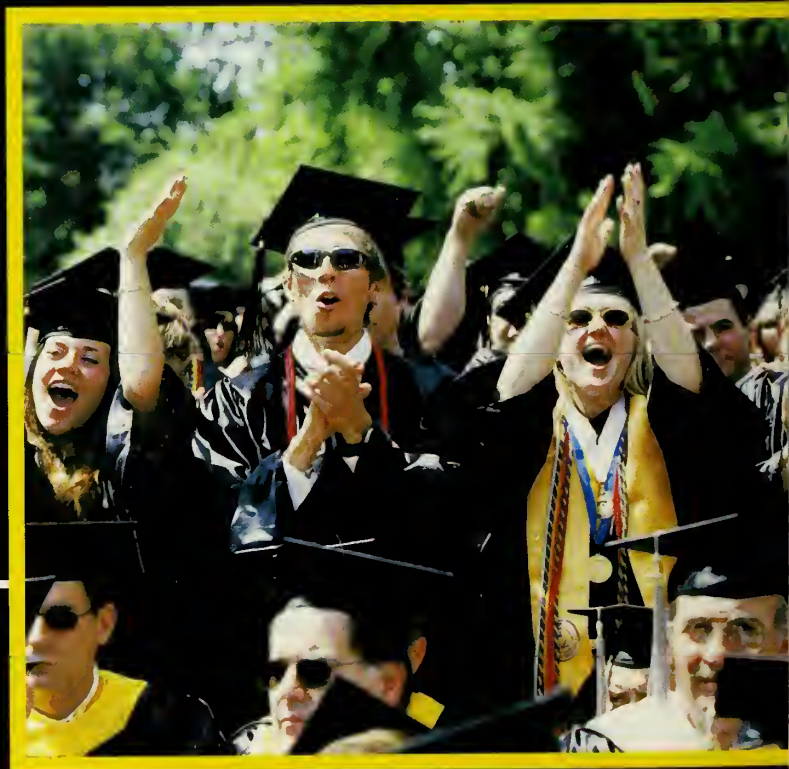

Donald J. Farish
President

2002 Graduation

Imagine...

Congratulations!

A letter from Image Editor-In-Chief

I'm still wondering what made me agree to be the Editor of Image yearbook. It seemed like a good idea at the time. Maybe it was the people who chuckled that know-it-all chuckle and said, "You're kidding right?" To them the yearbook was a joke. To me it became a mission.

I set out to make huge changes and improvements to the Image. I had big dreams and unlike some previous editors, a staff to help me achieve those dreams.

But reality gave me a good beating when I looked at our budget. Fortunately, the SGA granted our pleas and gave Image a little more financial breathing room.

My staff and I have worked hard to put together this year's book. Although we were unable to make many of the changes I originally dreamed of, I believe we have started the Image on it's way to becoming an incredible book that everyone at Rowan University will be proud to call their own.

Then it will be the Image staff's turn to chuckle that know-it-all chuckle.

Congratulations to the class of 2003, you have completed that dream, that goal, that aspiration.

But there is still more life to live.

Take a deep breath and plunge ahead. Your future is calling. It is waiting for you to step out and give it form. So go ahead, get out there. Imagine your future and go make it a reality.

Best wishes for your bright future,

Stefanie Setlock

Image Editor-in-Chief

Thank You!!

Emmy, Frank, Ed, Chris, Vivian, Shannon, Jen, and everyone else who played a part in the production of this book. I hope you all feel your time was well invested. Thanks for everything and good luck in the future.
